Safety information on batteries for products containing coin-type lithium manganese dioxide batteries.

1. information identifying the manufacturer in accordance with Article 38(7); Maxell Ltd. (<https://www2.maxell.co.jp>)
2. the battery category and information identifying the battery in accordance with Article 38(6); Poratake Battery CR2016
3. the place of manufacture (geographical location of a battery manufacturing plant); J. Teuku Umar Km. 44, Cikarang Barat, Bekasi 17530, Jawa Barat, Indonesia
4. the date of manufacture (month and year). Printed on the surface of the battery.
5. the weight : 1.6 g
6. the capacity: 90mAh
7. the chemistry: MnO₂, Li
8. the hazardous substances present in the battery, other than mercury, cadmium or lead; non-ionization
9. usable extinguishing agent; Extinguisher of alkaline metal fire is effective. Plenty of cold water is also effective to cool the surrounding area and control the spread fire. But hydrogen gas may be evolved by the reaction of water and lithium and it can form an explosive mixture. Therefore in the case that lots of lithium metal batteries are burning in a confined space, use a smothering agent (e.g. carbon dioxide or dry sand). Use self-contained breathing apparatus and full protective gear not to inhale harmful gas.
10. Critical raw materials present in the battery in a concentration of more than 0.1 % weight by weight : Manganese Dioxide(MnO₂)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
RADIO FREQUENCY INTERFERENCE STATEMENT

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:
(1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and
(2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.
